Women's Vote Important . . .

The women's vote has been important ever since female suffrage was legalized by Constitutional amendment. And it's becoming more important all the time. U. S. News & World Report says: "Women and their votes are very much on the minds of John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon right now. The play for women's votes is being made this year with an intensity ever before seen in American politics."

The reason for that can be found in a simple statistical fact: There are about 3 million more women of voting age in this country than there are men. So, in an even reasonably close election, a candidate's appeal or lack of appeal to women could easily prove to be the decisive element.

As part of the effort to woo the ladies, the candidates' wives are being pressed into service. Mrs. Nixon is following a long and arduous campaign trail with her husband, and also campaigning individually. Mrs. Kennedy, who is expecting a child, is necessarily less active. However, she will give a series of teas at home. Other feminine members of the Kennedy family are campaigning hard. And the also attractive wives of the vice-presidential candidates, Mrs. Lodge and Mrs. Johnson, are playing important roles.

This is not, to the political strategists, a trivial matter. A vote is a vote—whether it comes from a reasoned analysis of a candidate's capabilities in this critical hour in history, or from prejudice for or against the way Mrs. Nixon or Mrs. Kennedy dresses.

Mr. Kennedy, U. S. News reports, seems to have been getting an excellent response from women during his campaign travels. A Washington Star reporter wrote that he "has something that makes the Manhattan chambermaid and the East Side dowager sisters under the skin." Mr. Nixon's standing in the race for a feminine following seems to be more difficult to assess. Republicans, however, are very confident that Mrs. Nixon is a powerful asset. What U. S. News calls an "unprecedented build-up" has been planned for her. Example: The "Pat for First Lady Week" which was observed during the October 3 - 8 period.

What techniques have been devised to lure the distaff vote? They are varied, extensive and aggressive.

The Republicans have three separate organizations at work. Their duties range from national organization down to the precinct level. The "coffee hour" is apparently the most popular stratagem—3,000 of these have been scheduled for a single day in the state of Oregon alone. While enjoying their coffee, the attending women will see films, hear records and be given literature extolling Nixon and Lodge.

The Democrats, the magazine says, are organizing thousands of "TV listening parties" to watch Senator Kennedy. And, it adds, "From now on, Senator Kennedy . . . will have one of the Kennedy ladies traveling with him at all times." Extensive speaking and interviewing schedules have been worked out for these ladies.

The effort to garner in a majority of the woman voters will reach an unprecedented peak between now and November. U. S. News concludes: "By Election Day, at least 2 million women will be working as volunteers for the Nixon - Lodge campaign, Republican officials say. A million to 2 million may be enrolled in the Democrats' campaign effort. Nearly every women's club in the country is likely to be visited by the wife, sister or mother of one of the candidates, or by a candidate himself."

Interesting Events in Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

November 4, 1937

The annual Halloween party was held in the high school last Saturday night, and while the attendance figures are hard to compute it is certain that 432 favors were passed out as the last act of the program. The assembly room was a pretty crowded place and when the party broke up amid plenty of noise from the favors passed out, it was adjudged to have been a successful venture in the field of entertainment. The idea of a general Halloween party for the youngsters was first put into reality four years ago and the schoolhouse has been the scene of lots of action each Halloween Eve since that time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Skingley were delegates to the State Grange convention held in Alpena last week, returning home Thursday evening. The banquet tables which were set for 750 people were filled and more than 500 people had to be turned away.

Mr. and Mrs. Skingley will give a report of the meeting at the next Grange meeting on Nov. 6th. The community was shocked to learn the first of the week of the death of Russell Clifford Durant, who died suddenly Saturday afternoon at his home in Beverly Hills, Calif. He was stricken with a heart attack shortly after dinner and passed away before medical aid arrived. Cliff was 46 years of age and was born at Flint, where he received his early education. His father, W. C. Durant, was founder of General Motors Corporation. He first came to this community when his uncle, the late C. P. Downey, gave him a 40-acre tract on the AuSable River where he built his first cabin, later acquiring several thousands of acres in South Branch township. In 1930 he built an elaborate summer home on the AuSable at a cost of around $350,000. In February of 1931 the home was destroyed by fire. A few months later the $45,000 garage and caretaker's home was destroyed by fire when struck by lightning.

Hemming Peterson of Maple Forest had the misfortune to lose his farm home by fire Monday afternoon, together with most of its contents. Sparks from a chimney had evidently caught on the shingle roof and it had gained much headway before being noticed by Mr. Peterson and his daughter, Miss Martha, who reside there. While Mr. Peterson was trying to remove some of the contents Miss Martha ran down the road to solicit the help of a road crew who were working about a mile away. The building was in flames when they arrived but they kept the fire from catching onto the barn and other out-buildings. There was no insurance.

Arnold Jerome and Charles Wyllie of Olivet spent Monday here, the former visiting his grandmother Mrs. M. A. Bates, and the latter visiting his mother, Mrs. Floyd Goshorn.

Miss Helen Brady returned Saturday from Detroit, where she had spent a couple of days. She accompanied her brother Jerome and Barth J. Elks, who visited here over the weekend.

Miss Virginia Denewett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Denewett, was united in marriage to Mr. Warner Pratt of Frederic on Thursday evening. The Rev. Fr. Maloney officiated at the ceremony at St. Mary's rectory, and witnessing the nuptials were the bride's sister Miss Alice and Peter Barber. The young couple will make their home in Grayling, having rented rooms in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. David Cook. Charles Green, who at one time made his home in Grayling, has returned here to make his home and is employed at the Kerry & Hanson Co. taking the place of the late Adler Jorgensen. Mr. and Mrs. Green came from Lansing and are occupying an apartment in the home of Mrs. Foley.

Mrs. Walker Monroe of Detroit is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. C. S. Hanson. She accompanied Mrs. Helen B. Routier and son Ralph here, who came to spend the weekend. Mrs. Routier's mother, Mrs. H. A. Bauman, returned with them on Sunday to spend two weeks in Detroit.

The Ladies of the Danish Aid were entertained at the home of Mrs. Peter Madsen Thursday afternoon.

Several friends of Mrs. Ernest Lovely met at the home of Mrs. Joseph Kernskey Thursday evening and showered her with many lovely gifts. For pastime pinocle was played with the high and low scores respectively being held by Mrs. Elmer Neal and Mrs. Adolph Peterson. A delicious lunch was served.

Snow flurries Tuesday with a wild wind felt threatening, but the snow was melted by morning. A warm sun today looks promising for a few days of nice weather. The sun is bright, but these are brisk autumn days with plenty of cold breezes. A roof fire at the home of David Cook, Saturday afternoon, called out the fire department. Sparks from a chimney caught on the roof, but it was put out before much damage resulted.

Earl Woods has sold out his second house to John Deckrow, and the latter took over the business on October 25. After taking a day to get the place in shape they opened up for business Tuesday. Mrs. Deckrow is assisting and is at the store every day.

Jay Skinner of Maple Forest has purchased the property on Park Street near the Danish Church from the J. W. Sorenson estate and his family will move from Maple Forest some day this week to make their future home in Grayling.

Some other improvements that are very noticeable have been made on some of Grayling's homes. Among them is the Fred Lamm home on which the front porch has been enclosed, a new back enclosed porch built and the entire building re-roofed. Some time ago they had a stone fireplace built also. The Carl Hanson home has been improved with a new full cement basement and they are installing a new furnace.

Mr. and Mrs. Naval Stephan and Mr. and Mrs. Lacey Stephan were hosts at a shower and birthday party at the home of Mrs. John Knecht on October 27th. The affair was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Stephan Jorgensen, who were

Most popular gathering place in Pere Cheney was the C. S. Hutt general store and post office. The above picture, taken in the 1890s, is part of a collection treasured by Mrs. Augustus Funkh of Grayling.

Pere Cheney, Ghost Town Since 1914, Was Once Thriving Community

BY SUZANNE BUCKHOLZ
From the Roscommon Herald-News, September 15, 1950

A few years meant the difference between Pere Cheney, a lively lumber town with over 1,000 population, and Pere Cheney, a deserted ghost town.

A man named George Cheney acquired a government land grant and moved to this section to start a mill sometime in the late 1860's or early 1870's. A town settled around his property with most of the people being section workers. It was primarily a lumbering town and as the state records stated, "Lumber is manufactured and forms the only shipments."

The town, located six miles from Roscommon, rapidly grew and by 1877, according to the Michigan Gazetteer and Lansing law books, the population of Pere Cheney was 704. The business directory listed G. M. Cheney, saw-mill owner; G. M. F. Davis, physician; H. H. Hale, carpenter; Stewart Hutt, general store manager; W. Hyde, carpenter; M. Silsby, wagonmaker; and C. M. Smith, hotel proprietor.

Four years later, in 1881, the population of Pere Cheney had jumped to 922. According to state records it had a Methodist society and a primary school, express, American telegraph, Western Union, and daily mail. It had been the county seat of Crawford County since 1879 and there had been quite a battle between Grayling and Pere Cheney as to where the county seat would be located. A picnic was held to decide and Grayling, which had the advantage of the river, was picked as the site for the courthouse.

The business directory from 1881 listed Andrews and Jacobs, lumbermen; O. J. Bell, blacksmith; H. H. Hale, hotel proprietor; H. D. Clark, railroad agent; G. M. F. Davis, physician; H. H. Hale, carpenter; George Hall, builder; J. P. Hildreth, justice of peace; Stewart Hutt, general store and hotel proprietor; W. W. Hyde, carpenter; J. J. Redson, deputy sheriff; J. M. Silsby, wagonmaker; and William Woodburn, justice of peace.

The largest listed population was in 1909 when the Local and Public Acts in Michigan recorded the population as 1,439.

Ella Roberts, school teacher at Pere Cheney, wrote in the spring of 1908, "Sixteen in school. Church occasionally in school. A large hotel building still there, which a family rented for their home." Charley Corwin, who still lives a few miles from where Pere Cheney used to be, recalls the minister as being "Preacher Clout."

The skating rink was the big entertainment attraction then. Dances also had their part in the social life of the town. "We used to have a pretty good time over there," recalled Charley Corwin. "They used to have dances in the hotel."

By 1910 the town began to die out and by 1914 almost everyone was gone. Harley Williams was railroad foreman in 1910, moving his family to Roscommon in 1914. Mr. and Mrs. Dumfry, Mr. Johnson, who ran the store and post office, and Mrs. Clark, his sister-in-law, and the Clover family were the last ones there. An Indian family who helped on the railroad lived about a mile out of town at that time. There were no hotels or mills left when the Williams family left Pere Cheney, and the depot was gone. Anyone wishing to take the train to Grayling or Roscommon left a lantern, so that the train would stop for them. Only the school and few houses were left standing.

Many of the homes were bought by people living near the area. Charley Corwin bought some of the section buildings and moved them onto his property. Some buildings, including a hotel and mill, burned. A few foundations remain but only the cemetery shows where the town used to be. The people scattered to different parts, many coming to Roscommon and to Grayling to settle or to other small towns nearby. There were rumors that a plague had caused the town to die out but according to those who had lived there this was untrue. When the lumber, the community's only industry, disappeared, the town died.

her friends at her home on the south side. Mrs. Al Shellenbarger furnished music during the evening and light refreshments were served.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Devere Burgess Saturday evening, Oct. 31st, a ten pound son.

Mrs. William Cody left today for Gaylord to visit for a few weeks while Mr. Cody is on a hunting expedition up north.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Jerome are in receipt of an announcement telling of the arrival of Benjamin Jerome Jr., October 28th. Mr. Jerome is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Jerome, and Mrs. Jerome is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bates. The Stunt Club and guests were agreeably entertained Thursday evening at the home of Miss Myrtle Case by a real old fashioned Halloween party.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year for the Aid Society of the Danish Lutheran Church. Mrs. J. K. Hanson, president; Mrs. Christ Peterson, vice-president; Mrs. Soren Anderson, secretary; Mrs. Jens Elerson, cashier; Mrs. Severin Jensen, trustee.

Miss Margaret Nelson celebrated her birthday last evening by inviting a number of her little friends to spend a few hours. Delicious refreshments were served to the little guests and games were played during the evening.

There has for a long time back been more or less talk among the people of Grayling about a symposium, but it has always seemed as if someone was lacking to make a start. The Danish Young People's society have at length decided to build, on the plot of ground generally known as the "Newman Place" which was given to them by Mr. E. Hanson. This is an ideal place. It overlooks the river and they hope in time to have tennis courts and croquet grounds in connection with the gym.

The one '61 car
built to back up a long-term warranty
 Ford led the way with the one car beautifully built to take care of itself... and you On September 29, Ford Dealers set an industry trend—were first to extend their 1961 car warranty from the conventional 4,000 miles or 3 months to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first.
 Why? Because Ford built the one car to support such confidence. Ford for 1961 is the one car beautifully built to take care of itself!
 The '61 Ford was designed and built to the more exacting standards necessary to offer an extended warranty. Ask to see this warranty at your dealer's.
 It is significant that Ford has so many take-care-of-itself features not found in other cars, regardless of price. These new Ford features are a triumph of exhaustive research, fine engineering, and quality construction that give you the most reliable Ford ever built. Drive a '61 Ford now.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF
 Lubricates itself—You'll normally go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications. Then a quick, inexpensive Ford Dealer lube job (which costs about $4.00) will get you set for another 30,000 miles.
 Cleans its own oil—You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.
 Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck
 Size brake adjusters themselves automatically for the life of the lining.
 Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminumized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.
 Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially proceeded to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels
 beneath the doors.
 Takes care of its own finish—New Diamond-Lustre Finish never needs wax.

Dangerous For Traffic Deaths

With November and December averaging a fifth of the annual Michigan traffic deaths, Sgt. Carl Harrison, of the Houghton Lake State Police Post, is warning motorists and pedestrians to be unusually vigilant in these hazardous months.
 The toll for last November and December was 230, or 20 per cent of the 1959 total, the same as the 33-year average computed since traffic records were begun.
 More hours of darkness due to shorter days mean more driving and walking is done in reduced visibility, Harrison pointed out. Frequent unfavorable weather and road conditions increase the hazards. In addition, holiday shopping adds to the volume of pedestrian and vehicle traffic in these two months.
 "More alert driving and walking can cut down this year's toll," Sergeant Harrison emphasized. "To increase their safety, motorists and pedestrians must work at it every day. You can't take safety for granted."
 Sergeant Harrison offered these safety tips:
 To drivers: Because traffic hazards increase in November and December, increase your alertness. Take it easy after dark and in bad weather. Increase your caution at hills, curves and intersections where there may be ice or snow. Obey traffic laws and signs and watch out for the motorist or pedestrian who may not. Safe driving can prevent accidents.
 To pedestrians: Be especially alert for the added walking hazards of the season. Don't block your vision with packages or other objects. Walk only where drivers expect you, but be on guard for the motorist who may be inattentive or careless. Be extra cautious at night and in bad weather. Remember, careful walking can keep you unharmed so always take your best steps in traffic.

PROS and CONS ON THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION PROPOSAL WOULD FILL A BOOK

THE PROS AND CONS of the Constitutional Convention proposal to revise Michigan's 52-year-old basic law is the kind of a question that can make Republicans and Democrats shoulder to shoulder with Democrats, or turn brother against brother—all for perfectly valid reasons.

Whether you're for it or against it, one thing that has to be remembered is that the proposal three on the Nov. 8 ballot will NOT result in an immediate Con-Con. If it is approved, and it does NOT mean the Constitution can't be revised if it is turned down.

What the ballot proposal would do is this:

It would put the question, "shall a Constitutional Convention be called?" before voters for their approval or disapproval at the 1961 Spring election. Under existing provisions of the Constitution, the question, which was turned down in 1958, would not go before the voters again until 1974 unless the Legislature voted to put it on the ballot again, or, as they did this year, citizen groups circulated petitions to force the question on the ballot.

It would change the vote required to approve a Con-Con from a majority voting in the election to a majority voting on the question. Courts have interpreted the existing Constitution to mean a majority voting in the election must approve a Con-Con to call one. The 1958 vote would have resulted in a Con-Con if a simple majority of those voting on the question were all that was needed.

The ballot proposal would change the method of selecting delegates from three for each state senatorial district to one for each state senator and one for each state representative.

It would order a special election 120 days after voter approval if a Con-Con became official in order to select the delegates to the convention.

These four changes would have to be made in the present Constitution to enable the Con-Con proposal as it stands now to go before the people. That's why these amendments to the Constitution are up for voter approval Nov. 8.

The lineups for and against the proposal show an impressive "team" on both sides.

Powerful groups worked actively to put the question on the ballot by popular referendum.

Distinguished spokesmen and leaders have taken positive and active stands on the ballot proposal, and on Con-Con itself—some of them for and some against.

Both political parties are divided on the issue. The liberal wing of the Republican party, led by Governor Candidate Paul D. Bagwell, and certain segments of the Democratic party, led by Gov. C. Mennen Williams, say that immediate Constitutional revision is needed, and the proposal on the ballot is the quickest way to get it.

The labor wing of the Democratic party, led by Governor Candidate John B. Swainson, and the conservative wing of the Republican party, whose chief spokesmen are in the Michigan Senate, say that Con-Con may or may not be needed, but the ballot proposal is not the way to go about it at any rate.

The chief reason behind the party opposition to the ballot proposal is that neither Republicans nor Democrats would be assured of a clear majority of delegates under its selection method.

Other opposition to the proposal ranges from doubts about the cost of a Con-Con (estimated at from $2 million to $3 million) to fear that special Constitutional protection would be lost.

There is also the predictable inclination in some quarters to cling to the status quo.

The only safe assumption at this point is that win or lose, proposal number three on the Nov. 8 ballot is only the first round in the battle over Constitutional revision by the Convention method.

PROPOSAL NUMBER TWO on the Nov. 8 ballot would amend the constitution to permit the Legislature to call a Con-Con.

Michigan's Mackinac Straits bridge is the costliest span ever built. Not counting the highway approaches, the span cost $100,000,000.

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS Should Parents Decide Teenage Friends?

THE WEEK'S LETTER: I have a big problem. My parents won't let me have any friends. They say my friends are no good for me. They say that they will get me into trouble. I like my friends.
